

Appendix A. Educational Outcomes by Partnership Service Regions

Appendix A includes publicly available data at the district level for all school districts within each partnership's service region for the key outcomes and student sub-groups identified in RCW 28B.120.060. Specifically, we identify district-level four-year high school graduation rates, direct to college enrollment rates, and college completion rates overall and by race/ethnicity, FRPL status, and ELL program participation.

The data points included in this appendix establish baselines that can be used as the work of the RCG investments unfolds in the coming years. Of note, all data points included in this appendix are population-level outcomes for students enrolled in the K-12 service regions for each partnership. This use of school district boundaries to define service regions represents a preliminary delineation of region and will evolve differently for each partnership depending on their approach to RCG-funded work.

Although we include these district-level outcomes, we readily acknowledge that these data points tell only part of the stories that are unfolding in our partners' service regions. The storytelling power of these data are limited not only due to the need for data suppression when sample sizes are small, but in their capacity to holistically capture students' identities and experiences. Adult learners, families served by dual generation strategies, and learners who forego direct enrollment into college after high school are not captured by these measures. As RCG evolves, we may expand the set of population-level outcomes to capture the potential effects of strategies aimed at learner populations beyond those in the K-12 system.

Furthermore, the limitations of population-level outcomes motivate the co-creation of short-term outcomes alongside our implementation grantees. Whereas we expect that population-level outcomes will change slowly over time as work scales, short-term outcomes chosen based on the partners' understanding of their strategies and the students served are a more immediate barometer of how students' and families' day-to-day educational experiences are evolving because of RCG investments.

ª The district's four-year graduation rate for 2021-22 is 83% (verified by OSPI; not currently reflected on the OSPI Report Card), however sub-group rates in this year are not available due to reporting issues. We revert to graduation rates from the previous AY for this district only to allow for reporting of four-year graduation rates by sub-group.
