Passport to Careers

OVERVIEW

The Passport to Careers program provides higher education, apprenticeship, and pre-apprenticeship opportunities to youth and alumni of foster care. Institutions can also receive incentive grants to enhance and target support services to foster youth.

Three primary components are administered by the Washington Student Achievement Council (WSAC):

- 1) A student scholarship for former foster youth.
- 2) Campus incentive funding to colleges that designate campus support staff and take other steps to recruit and retain former foster youth.
- 3) A partnership with the College Success Foundation to provide training and technical assistance to campus staff.

BENEFITS STUDENTS

Passport provides foster youth with assistance in preparing for college and specialized support services from college staff. Students receive a scholarship that helps cover the cost of attending college (tuition, fees, books, housing, transportation, and some personal expenses), and recipients get priority consideration for the State Need Grant. In the 2016-17 academic year, the program served 335 students.

Without significant intervention, less than 2%
of foster youth are likely to attain a bachelor's degree.

BENEFITS THE STATE

A college education can improve lifelong outcomes for this disadvantaged population, helping them become productive and contributing adults in their communities.

Passport also provides the first opportunity to obtain verifiable baseline data on foster youth aspirations and performance in postsecondary education in Washington.

PROGRAM FUNDING

The maximum Passport award is evaluated each year based on available funds and projected enrollments. Since 2012-13, the award has been $4,500. In 2015-16, students received $1,160,526 in scholarship funds. Institutions received $389,500 to provide enhanced support services to Passport-eligible students.

The College Success Foundation also received nearly $500,000 to provide student intervention, campus support, and community integration services.

“I am able to have a college experience and make something out of myself. I’m so appreciative.”

“This program taught me to grow up, taught me responsibilities, and most of all that you believe in your students.”

DATA EXCHANGE

A groundbreaking data exchange was developed between the Washington Student Achievement Council, the Department of Social and Health Services (DSHS), and colleges. In 2016-17, over 2,200 records were reviewed by DSHS, and of those, 210 students were determined eligible.

VIABLE PLAN

Intensive support services on college campuses assist student retention rates and postsecondary success. Currently, 47 institutions are participating in the “viable plan” to offer these support services. Colleges provide direct services, such as emergency funding, tutoring, meals, incentives for meeting academic goals, housing, school supplies, counseling, and transportation assistance.

Washington’s student financial aid programs are known collectively as Opportunity Pathways.

The Washington Student Achievement Council administers these programs, helping tens of thousands of students earn college certificates and degrees annually.
